

(a) About HEI

1) About Us

Govt. Dr. W. W. Patankar Girls' PG College, Durg is a prestigious institution dedicated to the higher education of women in Chhattisgarh. Founded on September 15, 1982, the college has made remarkable strides over the past 38 years, growing from just 5 students to approximately 3,700 today.

Affiliated with Hemchand Yadav University, the college has received notable accreditation from NAAC, achieving B++ grades in 2005 and 2021, reflecting its commitment to academic excellence. The campus spans 10 acres and recently expanded its infrastructure with a new building extension.

The college offers a diverse range of undergraduate and postgraduate programs across four key faculties: Arts, Commerce, Science, and Home Science. Students can pursue various specializations, including Hindi, English, Sociology, Mathematics, and more. It also provides opportunities for research, being a registered research center for Ph.D. programs in Home Science and Hindi.

Beyond academics, the college fosters cultural and sports initiatives, with departments excelling in music, dance, and drawing, and its sportswomen achieving recognition at state, national, and international levels. Additionally, various extension activities are supported by groups like Youth Red-cross and National Service Scheme, enriching the overall educational experience.

Govt. Dr. W. W. Patankar Girls' PG College remains a beacon of empowerment, nurturing the talents and potentials of young women.
